Anticipating boom

District adopts service rates

BY ED LEPOMA

Anticipating a building boom, Hancock County's Water and Sewer District has adopted connection and monthly service charges for apartments and other commercial establishments.

The new rate structure only applies to sewerage fees for now and was adopted last Monday. On Thursday, the Echo disclosed that a Picayune developer was planning to build an upscale, gated community of up to 120 apartments on a tract of land off state Hwy. 603 and Old Nicholson Road.

It would be the first multiple-living residential complex in the county, and the Water and Sewer District has offered to provide the development with sewerage connections and water, if possible.

District Commissioner Pam Gauthreaux said the new provisions posed "The Landing" development is only a sign of things to come. She said the District has been approached by other apartment developers, as well as other businesses wanting to come into the emerging Hwy. 603 corridor and other parts of Success of jail project comes down to funds

BY ED LEPOMA

One of the members serving on the advisory committee charged with building Hancock County's long-delayed Juvenile Detention Center says more funding might be the only option left.

Ken Hurt, the Sheriff Department's chief juvenile investigator, was among those shaking his head in disappointment last Wednesday when—for the fourth time—four bids came in, and all were well above the $1.4 million that is available.

Contractors were bidding on constructing a 30-bed juvenile detention facility attached to the rear of the historic Hancock County Courthouse. The specifications also asked for bids on an elevator, which would provide handicapped access to the second floor of the courthouse; witness and jury rooms and quarters for the Circuit Court; and a 20-bed addition to the existing county jail.

"It all comes down to money," said Hurt.

Supervisors fired Hattiesburg architect James Polk after the bids were opened and later rejected and have instructed the advisory committee to meet soon and come up with alternatives.

Hurt said Polk might not be entirely responsible for the impasse. "We cut out 3,000 square-feet from the proposed building and another $180,000 out of the security equipment," said Hurt.

Hurt did take some of the blame because he said the advisory committee selected Polk after he brought architect Jim Woodward into the picture. So far, County Comptroller Patty Greer says Polk has received $79,000 in design fees. After he was dismissed, he was ordered to leave all drawings and plans with the county.

Hurt said he thinks part of the problem is the demands of the Circuit Court, and the cost of the elevator.

He nixed a suggestion by District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour that Hancock County ture.

"That's what got Polk the job," said Hurt. Woodward is associated with the Kentucky firm of Architecture Plus, which has designed several criminal justice facilities around the country.

"They've built a lot of them, and they do fantastic work," said Hurt. Hurt said he talked to Woodward after the project again came in over estimates.

"Woodward hasn't even been paid yet, but he's offered to do anything he can do to help us," Hurt said.

should think of approaching Harrison and Pearl River counties to jointly build a juvenile jail.

"We've tried this before," said Hurt. "And, if it's built in Harrison County, their people will come first. That won't work."

Hurt said he thinks supervisors should have accepted a previous bid by J.O. Collins Construction that came in around $1.8 million.

By law, the county can't let a

County supports beach cleanup; backs litter bill

BY ED LEPOMA

Just days after a beachfront businessman complained about the "very deplorable condition" of the sand beach, Hancock County's Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a Beach Cleanup for Saturday, March 6.

Ernie Beckemeyer, who owns The Good Life and Day Dreams lounge and restaurant at the foot of Beach Boulevard and Court Street, came to complain before supervisors at a recess meeting last Wednesday.

Beckemeyer said Hurricane Georges in September deposited a lot more sand on the beach, but the county has made little effort to till it or to generally clean up the beach.

Board President Philip Moran told Beckemeyer that supervisors were following recommendations of its Beach Advisory Committee by leaving the beach alone during the winter season.

Moran said that committee felt it best not to move the sand around during the winter season because of high winds and other conditions.

He promised Beckemeyer, "The activity will pick up in early spring and summer."

Last Thursday, the Chamber advertised for volunteers for the 1999 Beach Cleanup Campaign, which will comb the beachfront from Bayou Caddy to Cedar Point.

The event, coordinated by the Chamber's Beautification Committee, will also get help this year from the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources.

The cleanup is scheduled March 6 from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m., in time to help dress up the beach for the 52nd annual Spring Pilgrimage, which will be kicked off in Bay St. Louis this year.

To sign up to participate or to reserve a specific section of the beach, call the chamber office at 467-9048.

Bay St. Louis student earns $1,000 award, trip to nation's capital Patricia Williams, 18, of Bay St. Louis was named Mississippi's top youth volunteer in 1999 in The Prudential Spirit of Community Awards, a nationwide program honoring young people for outstanding acts of volunteerism.

The awards program, now in its fourth year, is sponsored by The Prudential Insurance company of America in partnership with The National Association of Secondary School Principals. Nearly 20,000 high school and middle-level students were considered for awards in this year's program.

Williams was nominated by Our Lady Academy. She will receive a $1,000 award, an engraved silver medallion and an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. in May, where she will join other top honorees from each of the other states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico for several days of national recognition events. Ten of them will be named America's top youth volunteers for 1999 at that time.

Williams is a senior at Our Lady Academy, initiated a Halloween party for young cancer patients on behalf of her Catholic Youth Organization, of which she is president.

After hearing a guest speaker talk about how young cancer patients often need babysitters in order for their parents to attend support group meeting, Williams decided that she would throw a Halloween costume party for children of a local support group.

She joined forces with a CYO from a neighboring parish, designed activities, solicited funds for prizes, and hosted a car wash to raise money to support the event.

More than 60 children attended the party, which was so successful that Williams and her CYO plan to host another one next year.

"No matter how much joy and help you give to others, they always teach you more and give you more than you could ever hope to give them," said Williams.

Williams' awards and activities include: STAR Student, Hancock County Exchange Club Youth of the Month, treasurer of Our Lady Academy-National Honor Society, president of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Youth Organization, Member of the Catholic Youth Search Team for the Diocese of Biloxi, member of Our Lady Academy Student Ministry Retreat Team, senior class representative of SADD, member of OLA/St. Stanislaus swim team, member of OLA Math and Science Team, state competition; and participant in OLA's

Walter Dardar, an eighth grade language arts student at Hancock High School, reads to Cade Jarrell, a preschooler in the Hancock Hawks Nest program.

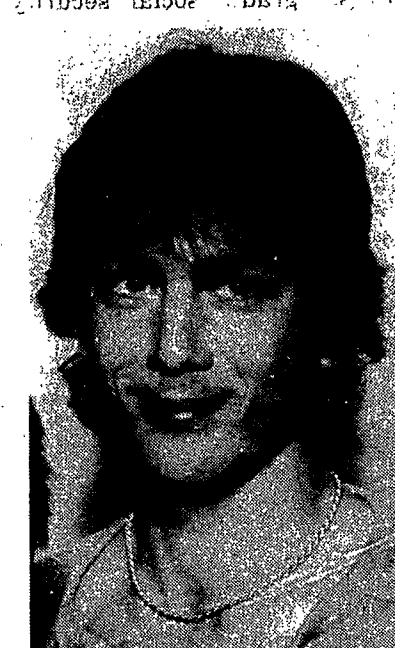

Language arts students help with program

Each week students in Dorothy Stewart's language arts class at Hancock Jr./Sr. High School choose a quality piece of children's literature to share one-on-one with the three- and four-year-old participants in the Hawks Nest child care program. The preschoolers are then given the opportunity to read or retell the story to their partner.

Through the reading partnership, Stewart's students are given the opportunity to assume a leadership role in the larger learning community. The program fosters the development of an appreciation for quality literature, a positive self-concept, and confidence in individual learning for both age groups.

Stewart says, "The students have become very enthusiastic about reading to the Hawks Nest children. This is a wonderful opportunity for students to engage in reading that also benefits others."

Feb 19-22 is backyard bird count

Want to make a contribution to the welfare of your birds? Why not participate in the annual Great Backyard Bird Count?

Sponsored by the National Audubon Society and the Cornell Lab of Ornithology, the count enlists the help of local bird-watchers to count the birds at feeders, local parks or other outdoor locations and then report their findings.

"People can spend as much time as they want in counting the birds," Mississippi Outdoors magazine editor David Watts said. "It's fun and a great way to enjoy the outdoors."

Last year, more than 14,000 birders across North America reported some one-half million birds seen at feeders and at other sites. Scientists say this year's bird inventory will make comparisons possible with the findings in 1998.

"Experts also say the Great Backyard Bird Count will make possible a long-term database that should be able to detect broad changes in bird populations over time," Watts said. Cornell and Audubon also will use the findings to study bird ranges, populations, habitat needs, and migration corridors.

Watts said participants in the Great Backyard Bird Count will be able to report their findings to the BirdSource web site at <http://birdsource.cornell.edu/gbbc>.

The web page will provide almost instantaneous feedback to what others are reporting across the country during this four-day count.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

At 1 p.m. today in Pass Christian, St. Paul's Carnival Association's annual Mardi Gras parade is scheduled to roll in that city.

Royalty for the parade includes King Christian LXIX, Edward (Inky) Fournier; Queen Christiana, Helen Ladner Bentz; Grand Duke, John Wesley (Wes) Jones Jr., and Grand Dutches Robin Kern Cuevas.

The 1999 St. Paul's Parade Marshal is Frank Whitmann.

The parade begins at Davis Avenue to Scenic Drive, Scenic to Henderson Avenue, Henderson to Church Avenue and down Second Street to St. Paul's Catholic Church.

Pass Christian's Mardi Gras parade always attracts thousands of spectators and has the largest number of floats of any parade along the Coast.

If you plan on attending the parade, I suggest you get there early in order to get a good viewing spot.

Mardi Gras comes to an end on Tuesday as Bay St. Louis celebrates with the Krewe of Real People parade set for 1 p.m.

The parade forms on Bookter at Necaise Street, then Necaise to Main Street, Main to Beach Boulevard, Beach to Union Street, Union to Railroad Street, (there will be a reviewing stand at the Depot), Railroad to Blaize Avenue, Blaize to Third Street, Third to Sycamore Street, Sycamore to Old Spanish Trail, Old Spanish Trail to Bookter to disband.

As you probably noticed, the parade will not go down Court and Second streets as it has in previous years because of traffic problems.

As always, the Krewe of Real People parade is the highlight on Mardi Gras Day in Hancock County.

We hope to see you at the parades.

On Thursday morning former Waveland Mayor John Mason stopped by the office to chat a bit about his retiring from politics.

He said he had thoughts about possibly seeking a state office, but felt he could do more for the community on the local scene through his community involvements.

John said he will continue to be involved with his community activities such as the Hancock County Foster Care Review Board, Boys Town in New Orleans, St. Clare Church, Waveland Civic Association, Chamber of Commerce projects, etc.

WANTED the Best Bean Cookers in the Area!
The 10th annual Red Beans & Rice Cook-off is in need of the best in bean cookers in the area for the annual American Cancer Society's Red Beans & Rice Cook-off scheduled for Monday, April 12, at the Hancock County Civic Center.

This is a big fun time for all participants, and this year Tim Kellar has graciously accepted chairmanship of the event.

Last year was a big success for the cook-off, and Kellar wants to make it even bigger and better with more participants at the Civic Center.

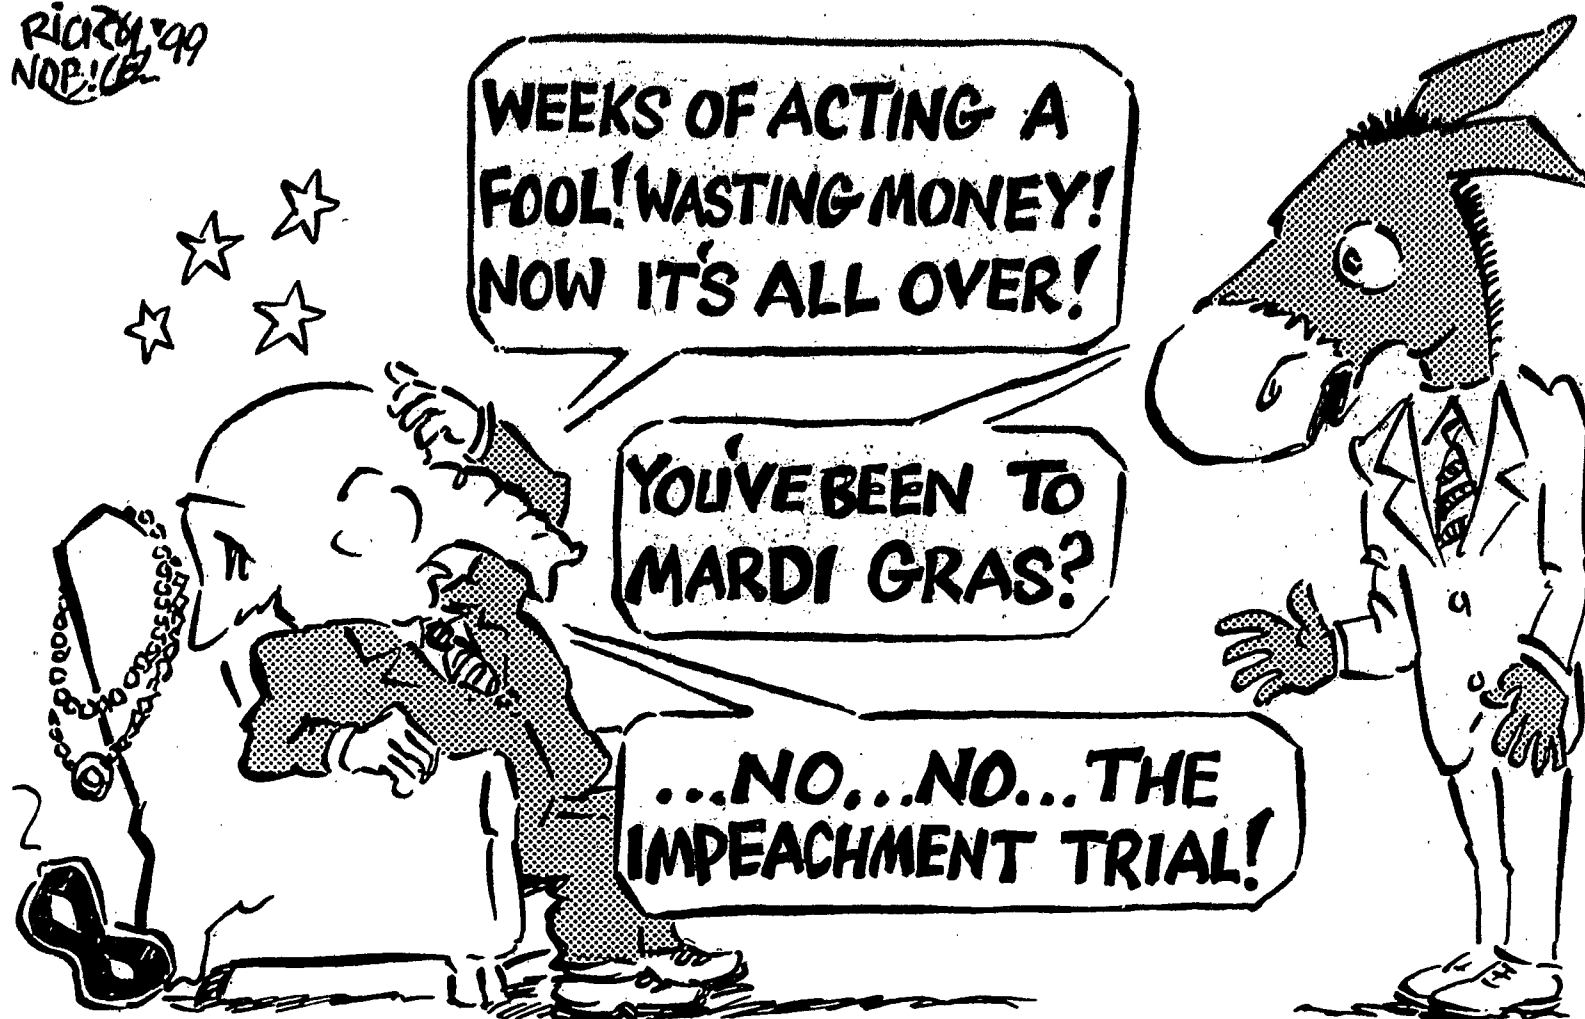

For further information, there is an entry form on Page 3B of this issue of the Echo, or you can call Kellar at 467-5404 for further information.

Good luck to all you great cooks.

By the way, several improvements have been made at the Civic Center in recent months, and the facility is really beginning to shape up.

I have been told that many more improvements are still to come.

NOB:12

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative J.P. Compretta

House members pass bills on several high-profile issues

House of Representative members marked the midpoint of the session by passing bills affecting several of the high-profile issues that were predicted for the 1999 Legislature.

One of the most far-reaching bills that passed, according to most observers, was the one that creates the Mississippi School for the Performing and Fine Arts at Brookhaven.

The school would offer a high level of instruction to artistically-gifted students. The school, similar to the State Math and Science School at Columbus, would open by the 2001-2002 school term, and would be located on the refurbished campus of the former Whitworth College in Brookhaven.

Students of the school would be able to select from major disciplines that include dance, creative writing/literature, music, theatre arts and visual arts.

Regular high school classes would be taught at nearby Brookhaven High School.

House members ran the gamut in handling issues during the week's deliberations, ranging from criminal matters to insurance issues to highways and bridges, and more.

They passed a bill that would create the State Office of Post-Conviction Relief, which would provide inmates sentenced to death with proper legal counsel for the appeals process.

Mississippi has not executed a prisoner since 1989 and some say a key reason is because Death Row inmates have not gotten proper legal counsel, leading to delays in carrying out the sentence.

The bill would allow the appointment of two attorneys and a small staff, appointed by the Mississippi Public Defender Commission. Estimated cost is about $400,000 annually under the initial arrangements.

Another bill would continue to allow counties to hold prisoners for the State Department of Corrections. Although some complain about county jail overcrowding, it was pointed out that several counties see it as economic development because counties are paid by the state to hold the inmates.

In other criminal matters, the House voted to provide more funding for county court officials; establish training programs for county jailers and auxiliary law enforcement officers; transferred duties of some family courts to the regular county court system; strengthened fines for doing damage to Mississippi River levees and for strewing litter on state roads and highways; and doubled the normal fine for speeding in a highway work zone.

The House voted to contribute $235,000 toward a World War II Memorial to be built in Washington—$1 for every Mississippian who served in the war. The House also voted to contribute $15,000 for a woman-in-the-military memorial in Washington.

Among the many other bills passing the House:

— Casino and charity bingo winnings would be withheld from gamblers who are delinquent in child-support payments.

— Charity bingo laws were revised to ensure that more money goes to the charities represented by the bingo operations.

— Medicaid recipients whose income is at 133 percent of the federal poverty level would be eligible for more help in receiving prescriptions.

— Family Resource Centers would be established under a pilot project to focus on school-readiness, including parenting classes, for youngsters in pre-kindergarten ages.

— The state's "wild and scenic" rivers would be protected under a process of designating a body of water. The voluntary program would allow landowners to promote forest buffers along streams, and the bill may in the end allow financial incentives to spur participation.

— Family income could range up to $35,000 and still be eligible for children to receive financial aid to attend college. Current law caps family income at $30,000.

— More fire trucks would be on the way to rural communities. The mostly volunteer departments have been highly praised. As many as 25 small departments recently answered a call to fight a fire that threatened to destroy downtown Taylorsville.

— Foster parents would be covered by the state tort claims board in lawsuits if they are following program guidelines.

— Child care facilities would require certification if they have more than five children under their care.

— Medical personnel who use defibrillators — a device employed on someone who could be suffering a heart attack — would have to undergo training. The devices are said to have saved many lives.

Dental services would be made more accessible to Medicaid recipients through a bill that raises the fee paid doctors. One report said many dentists now reject Medicaid patients because of a low reimbursement rate.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI SENATE

By State Senator Scottie Cuevas

Mandatory auto insurance, job-training bills highlight week of Senate floor debate

Floor debate dominated action last week as Senate bills had to receive Senate approval by Feb. 11 or die.

Mandatory automobile liability insurance could become law if the Legislature passes SB 2039, approved by the full Senate Tuesday. The measure raises minimums on coverage for bodily injury and property damage, as well as sets a system of fines for any driver not having coverage.

In addition, industrial training programs statewide would be consolidated under the State Board of Community and Junior Colleges through SB 2796 which passed the Senate on Wednesday.

The workforce act, supported by leaders in the state's business community, would bring together all adult education and job training programs instead of the current situation in which a variety of programs are scattered across agencies and school districts.

Another economic bill, SB 2423, authorizes programs to encourage development in some 28 counties throughout the state designated as "less-developed."

The programs range from state-backed loans to start or expand day care to grants to local development organizations.

To remain alive, Senate bills must be approved as is or amended in the House. House bills now head for consideration by the Senate.

Showing concern for the education of very young children, the Senate approved SB 2618 to establish a task force to study development and implementation of a pre-kindergarten program statewide. The group is to report to the 2000 session of the Legislature. And SB 2609 established a "Parents as Teachers" pilot program for pre-kindergarten level.

Several other education-related bills also were approved, including SB 2121 to authorize a character education curriculum; SB 2157, authority for school districts to compensate experienced teachers who mentor beginning teachers; and SB-3025 and SB 2190 to allow the State Department of Education to develop models for conflict resolution by student peers and a mentoring program for beginning principals.

SB 2156 — which addresses statewide concerns about academic standards and other matters — includes a provision to allow a student's transfer to an adjacent higher-accredited district if that student's parent or guardian is a property-owner in the resident district.

Part-time college students could secure tuition grants through SB 2038, which passed Thursday.

Among the bills passed to assist counties were SB 2226, to provide additional funds through The Rural Fire Truck Acquisition Program to assist rural volunteer fire departments, who haven't been able to purchase equipment during the past few years; and SB 2347 to increase the reimbursement for homestead-exemptions tax losses.

Persons who have received financial settlements, many of whom are disabled, will receive additional legal protections from SB 2841's requirement that they appear before a chancery judge for guidance before selling the annuity.

Families with Medicaid-eligible children will be helped through SB 2143, which will provide 12 months of continuous eligibility instead of the current monthly evaluation. The bill, which makes numerous technical amendments to state Medicaid laws, also provides for development of additional payments to nursing homes for Alzheimer's patients, revises the level of physician reimbursements and increases dental reimbursements, among other changes.

In an effort to decrease out-of-wedlock births, the Senate passes SB 2897, which created an incentive program for counties to actively seek ways to reduce the statistics.

Sensors approved a first step toward reclaiming natural streams throughout the state through two bills. SB 2904 establishes a voluntary scenic streams stewardship program, while SB 2436 gives another year of life to a legislative study about stream reclamation.

One of the first bills passed by both houses this session — SB 2381 — is heading for conference-committee discussions to work out the differences favored by each chamber. The bill revises the way the Public Employees Retirement System calculates annual benefits.

City plants trees to recognize employees for Arbor Day

Four "Little Gem" magnolias have been planted on Hwy. 90 to recognize the four departments of the City of Bay St. Louis.

Jimmy Loiacano, Public Works Department Beautification Division, supervised the planting of the four trees. The trees are located near the intersection of Hwy. 90 and Dunbar Avenue on the westbound service road.

"The city is recognizing 'Leaders and Legacies' during its tercentennial year. What better leaders to recognize first but the employees who daily perform acts that protect our quality of life on a day set aside throughout Mississippi for planting a legacy to the future, Arbor Day," said Mayor Eddie Favre.

Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie, Ron Vannoy, Public Works director; Robert Parker, city clerk and director of Administration, and Police Chief Frank McNeil will select representatives of their departments to take place in the recognition ceremonies.

Following the Arbor Day ceremonies, the city will also plant a magnolia on Hwy. 90 to recognize the George Washington Bicentennial on Feb. 15, the first American President's birthday.

Bay St. Louis has qualified for designation as a George Washington Bicentennial Community. Other public activities to commemorate Washington's legacy will be announced later.

Biloxi Art Association Mardi Gras open house

The Biloxi Art Association is celebrating Mardi Gras in a big way this year. The association will be holding its annual Mardi Gras open house on Mardi Gras Day, Feb. 16 at Studio Ohr, 131 Rue Magnolia.

Artists will be on hand displaying and selling their original artworks. The hours are 10:30 a.m.-4 p.m., and the art exhibits offer a nice respite between Biloxi's three parades.

During the Biloxi parades, note the Krewe of Harlequins float entitled "Flights of Fancy" as it "flies" down the streets with realistic paintings of different kinds of birds.

Biloxi Art Association members volunteered time and artistic talents to create this float. Each artist in the association painted a different bird, resulting in a beautiful collection of original paintings decorating the parade float.

The Biloxi Art Association is an active group of Gulf Coast artists, which conducts various shows throughout the year. The Mardi Gras open house kicks off the 1999 schedule, and will be followed by another open house on St. Patrick's Day, a Spring Art Sale (date to be determined), group exhibits in the Biloxi George Ohr Festival and Ocean Springs Peter Anderson Festival, and an exhibit and sale at Edgewater Mall during the Christmas season.

Rocks hold on to win 81-77 thriller

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The 13th ranked St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw basketball team withstood a rallying Columbia Wildcat team in the final period for an 81-77 division win at the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium on Friday, Feb. 12.

It was senior night for the Rocks who said farewell to Jamie Cuevas, Junior Davis, Paul Farve, Claudio Jombo, Brantley Ladner, Paul Ladner, and Mike Prendergast.

The Rocks' win ended the regular season at 28-3 overall and 12-2 in Division 7 Class 4A. SSC finished with a 10-game winning streak heading into the division tournament on Monday at Pacyune.

SSC head coach Jay Ladner stated, "We played well despite all the sickness and injuries we have sustained. The kids played well in the first half; however, not quite as good in the second half."

"Columbia has a very good team. They are quick, athletic, and can hit the shot when they need to. This was a very good win for us."

"We will play Pearl River Central at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 15, in Pacyune. They have a couple of good guards and a strong post player. Plus, they are athletic. We will have to find a way to survive."

Going into the game, the Rocks were without starting forward Zeke Davis who is out with a broken wrist. Also, Jason Santiago is nursing a bruised hip while Brandon Arcement is hobbling on a twisted ankle. Grady Willis, Brantley Ladner, and Paul Farve have all been out with a severe flu.

Despite the sickness and injuries, the Rocks jumped out to a 14-8 first period lead behind Junior Davis' six points.

In the second period, the Rocks used a 12-2 run to extend their lead at halftime to 40-23. The run was keyed by Paul Farve with six points.

It looked as though the Rocks were cruising to another victory; however, the Wildcats struck back with a fury in the second half.

The Wildcats nailed six three-pointers in the period during their comeback. Donovan Walker hit consecutive treys to close out the third period and send the Wildcats to the break down just 60-53.

Antoine Brown brought Columbia to within a point at 64-63 with 4:26 left to play in the game on a driving layup.

The Rocks were able to pull away to 74-66 on Davis' layup with 1:05 remaining.

With :16 left, Jimmy Warren nailed his fifth trey of the game to bring the Wildcats to within one point at 77-77.

Jason Santiago went to the line with :12 left and made one of two shots to give the Rocks a slim lead at 79-77. Santiago missed the second shot and Farve grabbed the rebound and made an outlet pass back to Santiago.

The ball was passed to Brandon Arcement who was fouled with :02 left. Arcement iced both charity shots and sealed the win for the Rocks at 81-77.

Junior Davis led the Rocks with 24 points and six boards. Paul Farve added 18 points, five boards, and four assists. Jason Santiago rounded out the double-figure scorers with 11 points and five assists.

Antoine Brown led all scorers with 30 points. He was followed by Jimmy Warren with 15 points. Donovan Dillon and Donovan Walker scored 14 and 13 points, respectively.

The Rocks will play Pearl River Central at 5:30 pm in Pacyune on Monday, February 15, in the first round of the Division 7 Class 4A tournament. The top two from the tournament will move on to the South State playoffs held the next week.

The Roth IRA: building block for a comfortable retirement

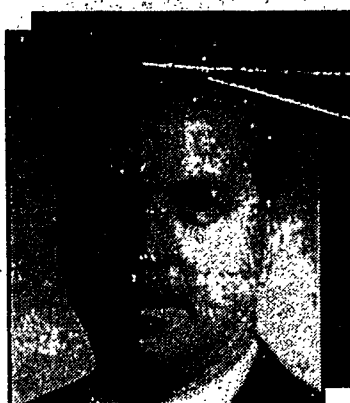

(Editor's note: Second of two articles on IRAs)

Most people have their own idea of what constitutes a dream home — the perfect location, just the right features and a decor to suit their tastes. Building that dream home requires thorough planning.

Most of us also dream of a financially secure future — and that dream requires a thorough blueprint, as well, featuring a variety of building blocks such as employer-sponsored retirement plans, 401(k)s and IRAs.

Just as a contractor must select the right materials for a building, so must retirement savers choose the right combination of tools. Understanding the benefits and restrictions of each is key to choosing the tools that are right for you.

Many people are flocking to the newest building block for retirement, the Roth IRA. This option can be an excellent financial tool for millions of Americans. Single individuals with adjusted gross income (AGI) up to $95,000 and couples with AGI up to $150,000 can contribute up to $2,000 to a Roth IRA.

Contributions to Roth IRAs are not deductible from your income each year, but earnings in a Roth IRA grow tax-deferred. In addition, withdrawals are tax-free if they meet two conditions: (1) the assets have been in the account for five years, and (2) the withdrawal is made after age 59-1/2 or for a qualified purpose (death, disability or up to $10,000 for a first home).

Two more advantages of Roth IRAs are that they allow contributions after age 70-1/2, and they do not require minimum distributions once you reach a certain age.

Even if you already have a traditional IRA, you can open a Roth IRA if your income is within the limits. You can have either or both types of IRAs, but your total contribution each year cannot exceed $2,000. In addition, if you convert all or part of a traditional IRA into a Roth IRA, you'll owe taxes on any amount converted.

Whether a Roth IRA is an appropriate building block for your retirement plan depends on your specific situation and goals. Get your financial house in order for retirement. Learn about Roth IRAs and other retirement-saving options, and explore the different ways they can fit into your financial blueprint.

Casino Magic offers responsible gambling program to employees

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis recently held a responsible gaming training program for employees. The program is the first of its kind on the Mississippi Gulf Coast conducted by the Mississippi Council on Problem and Compulsive Gambling.

"Our mission is to provide education and awareness to the public on problem and compulsive gambling, so we were delighted that Casino Magic contacted us.

"We hope that they are the first of many casinos who ask for our assistance in training their staff," said Betty Greer, executive director of the Mississippi Council on Problem and Compulsive Gambling.

The program was presented to the casino's supervisors and managers and will be implemented throughout the entire workforce. Most employees will not be expected to intervene with a guest, but will be expected to bring anyone with symptoms of a gambling problem to the attention of designated personnel.

Gini Fellows, the facilitator of the program and a certified compulsive gambling counselor, said the program is just that — an awareness training. She emphasized that employees are not responsible for the people who are gambling.

In other business at the recess session Wednesday, supervisors:

- Passed a resolution supporting local legislation passed by the House in the recent session that seeks to raise littering fines from $250 to $1,000. They will also ask the Mississippi Association of Supervisors to support the bill. Sen. Scottie Cuevas will shepherd the legislation in the Senate;

- Heard complaints from David Seal of the Catahoula Community, about loose and roaming hunting dogs playing havoc with his garbage. Seal said he's spending "$60 to $80 a month on garbage bags" because the roaming dogs overturn his garbage cans.

Supervisors promised to alert the county's animal control officer about the problem, but Seal said the officer is hesitant to do anything for fear he might be sued by the people who own the expensive hunting dogs if one is injured in the county's possession.

At present, there is no leash law in Hancock County south of Interstate 10. But, last year, after a stray dog attacked a two-year-old girl in her yard on Lower Bay Road, District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand asked county attorney Gerald Gex to draft a leash law that would apply countywide.

Before supervisors recessed, District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour requested a street light be installed at the busy intersection of Hwy. 603 and Texas Flat Road, which leads into McLeod Park.

And, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman wants a light installed at the intersection of U.S. Hwy. 90 and state Hwy. 604.

Student places in competition

Matthew Lewis, a senior in Diversified Technology at Hancock High School, recently placed third in the annual Mississippi Engineering Society's model building competition in Gulfport.

The 16 competitors from various coastal high schools were tasked with constructing a two-story building made of balsa wood to support a 50 Newton weight on each level of the structure for five seconds. The structure itself was weighed and the lightest structure won first place. Lewis, son of James and Linda Lewis of Diamondhead, was recently accepted to Mississippi State University and will now apply for their School of Architecture. According to Diversified Technology instructor Mike Ladner, "Matthew is well motivated, cooperative and extremely talented."

Krewe of Real People celebrates Mardi Gras

The Krewe of Real People's 18th annual Mardi Gras Ball was held Saturday, Feb. 6, at the Hancock County Civic Center.

Royalty included King Julius Theodore and Queen Candace Payne; royal guards were Ebony Nichols and Sandy Tillman; Dutch girls, Kavonna Bradley and Teneille Farmer; Egyptian Princess, Paige Ruff; and Gene (Tillman) James.

Entertainment included Fabulous D. Precious Pearls of Pearlington and Irish Rev.

A record number of krewe members and guests attended the ball.

The ball's theme was "Traditions Around The World."

Krewe Captain Sandra Price's comments presented by Judge Robin Alfred Midcalf were as follows:

"Traditions Around The World is a beautiful introduction to the earth's many cultures. The Krewe of Real People revealed the incredible variety and richness of people's heritage."

A significant social change at the end of the 20th century is a worldwide concern with identity. It leads to nationalism at worst, global cooperation at best. There is a widespread need for community among all people.

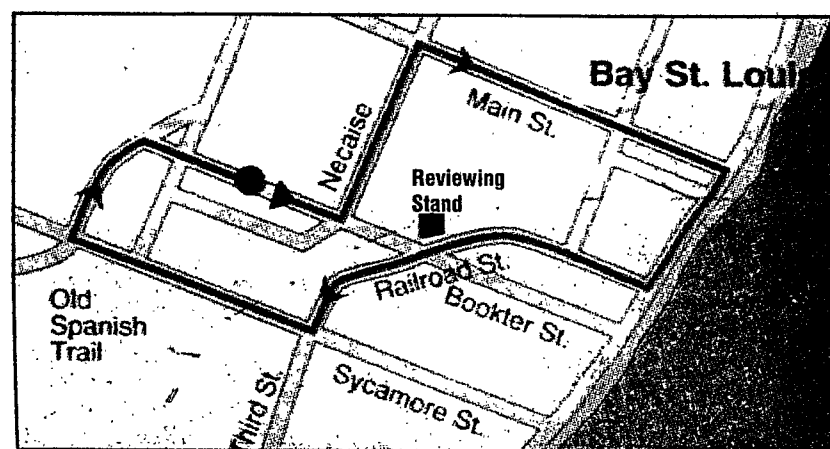

Sharing in celebration is one of the key ways that different social groups, ethnic minorities or the emerging nations keep a sense of who they are.

Clothing plays its part, it's not just a matter of protection or convenience, but is full of value and meaning. In dress, you can read the history of a people, their conquests and defeats, their religious beliefs, their values and their trade.

The Krewe of Real People has selected several countries to display their traditional costume. There are many forms of ethnic dress on display worldwide, that are the sartorial equivalent of such art.

Adaptation of costume, is not a new phenomenon. Ethnic dress is continually evolving around the world, traditional dress is constantly reinventing itself.

The Krewe of Real People's parade will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Bay St. Louis. (Photos by Jimmie Loracano)

Country Cajun Crawfish Festival headline talent announced

Talent this big doesn't show up at just any festival. Three days of some of country music's best, and brightest stars are scheduled to appear at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum's Country Cajun Crawfish Festival in mid-April.

Big talent like the Chevy Chase himself "Big Time" Trace Adkins, "Every Light in the House is On," "The Rest of Mine," Tracy Byrd ("Watermelon Crawl," "Lifestyles of the Not so Rich & Famous"); and Joe Diffie ("Ships Come In," "Home").

Popular local/regional talent including Ricochet, Richie Jones, Alan Redstone and others will round out the three days of top country, Cajun and zydeco music.

The event is set for April 16-18 in what is guaranteed to be one of the biggest festivals in the South. And it won't just be the music that's big.

Festival goers can feast on the event's real stars — the thousands of pounds of big, juicy, spicy hot "fingerlinckin' good" crawfish.

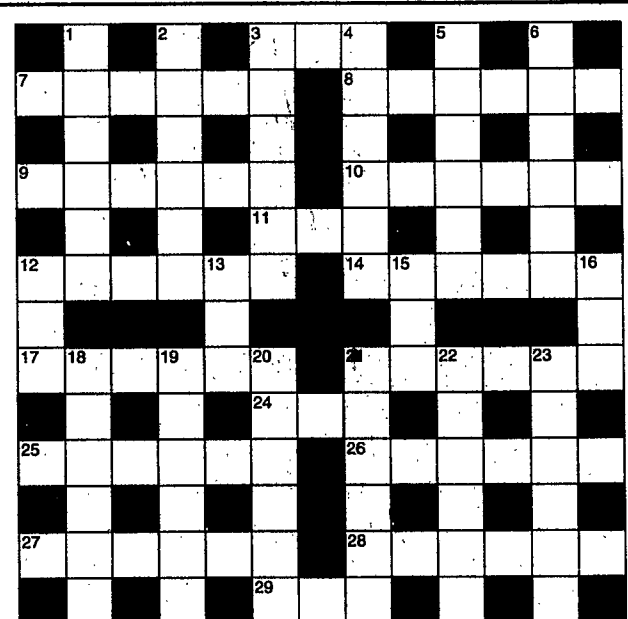

The festival also regularly features spectacular carnival rides, games and contests like crawfish eating, crawfish racing, bikini contests and much more.

More than 60 vendors will be there as well to showcase a variety of merchandise and to tempt the taste buds with a cornucopia of delicious foods.

The popular Winn-Dixie Festival of Foods returns this year to fill the entire arena floor with more than 100 Winn-Dixie vendors offering free samples and coupons to patrons. Admittance to the Festival of Foods is free with paid admission to the Crawfish Festival.

Gates open at 5:30 p.m. Friday, April 16, 11:30 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, April 17 and 18. Ticket prices are $6 general admission, $15 for limited VIP reserved seating.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Kids look for love. They seek the security of knowing mom and dad are there and care. Husbands and wives mourn the loss of security and love. The security of love is important to personal wellbeing.

The Bible is full of expressions of love. Take Jude 1-2 as an example. "Jude, a bond-servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James. To those who are the called, beloved in God the Father, and kept for Jesus Christ. May mercy and peace and love be multiplied to you."

Jude, a brother of the apostle James and half-brother of Jesus, writes to those having the love of God poured out in their hearts by the Holy Spirit (Romans 5:5).

He writes to those having a reservation in heaven and kept by the power of God (1 Peter 1:4-5). These people know the mercy of

The security of love

God's forgiveness. Because of this mercy and forgiveness, they have peace with God. They have peace of conscience. They have peace of heart. They know the love of God. This is ultimate security.

"For I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other created thing, will be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 8:38-39).

United Methodist announces spiritual development event

The Rev. Jack Loflin, a retired United Methodist pastor and former program council director, will be the outside consultant for a spiritual development event entitled "To Be Or Not To Be" to be held Feb. 20-21 in the Multi-purpose Building at Main Street United Methodist church.

Some of the topics to be discussed by Loflin will include the recent changes in thinking about leadership, preparation of leaders for the future, and providing leadership in long-range planning.

The Rev. Van Carpenter, pastor of Main Street, said, "This may well be the single most important event for the church this year. What happens on these two days will directly affect the nature and make-up of the church for the future. It could very well even determine the existence of Main Street Church 25 years down the road."

"Every person interested in this great church needs to be a part of this activity. Even inactive members need to participate in order to help create a church for tomorrow that they will be active in. Present officers and leaders need to take part in order to their job," said Carpenter.

Many people within the congregation have been reading the book The Once and Future Church by Loren Mead. This book helps everyone understand the reason for, and how to do, thinking and planning that is needed for the future.

"What Main Street will be 25 years from now depends upon what its people do today," Carpenter said.

The first session will be Saturday, Feb. 20, 9 a.m.-noon. Following a lunch provided by Main Street, a second session will be 1-3:30 p.m.

Rev. Loflin will speak at both the 9 and 11 a.m. worship services. Following a brown bag lunch provided by Main Street, Loflin will lead a Sunday afternoon session geared toward youth; however everyone is invited.

Main Street United Methodist Church is located 162 Main Street in Bay St. Louis.

For information, contact the church at 467-4538.

Thoughts for meditation:
As the rain and the snow come down from heaven and do not return to it without watering the earth, so is my word that goes out from my mouth: It will not return to me empty, but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it.

Isaiah 55:10
May your word start its work in me and accomplish in my life what you desire for me, Lord. Amen.

But I trust in your unfailing love; my heart rejoices in your salvation. I will sing to the Lord, for He has been good to me. Psalm 135:6

A fresh new day. Indeed, my heart rejoices. Please walk with me through this day and show me your path. Amen.

One's true worth can often be measured by the things pursued.

He regarded disgrace for the sake of Christ as a greater value than the treasures of Egypt, because he was looking ahead to his reward.

The ways of the Lord are right; the righteous walk in them, but the rebellious stumble in them.

Did you remember to mark on your calendar the parish second annual St. Patrick's Day 50/50 drawdown? It is scheduled for Wednesday, March 17. Tickets should still be available. Check with the secretary in the parish office at 467-4746.

Every Day Should Be Valentine's Day

Traditionally, St. Valentine's Day is a time when we express how much we love and care about our family and friends. I fondly recall Valentine's Day during my years in elementary school, when all of the students would have the little "punch out" valentines which we would sign and exchange with other students, teachers and our families. Everyone received several cards, expressing in one way or another, St. Valentine's message of love. The Bible tells us that God is Love and that His Ten Commandments are based on the principles of loving God with all our hearts and loving our neighbors as we love ourselves. Caring about those around us on a daily basis will strengthen our relationship with God and our neighbors. We all need love and support more than just once a year, and our Heavenly Father wants His love to be celebrated every day of our lives.

"Love your neighbor as you love yourself." If you love someone, you will never do him wrong...
